The drug overdose epidemic in the USA is a clear and present threat to public health. DEA's National Prescription Drug Take Back Day reflects our commitment to the safety and health of Americans, encouraging the public to remove unneeded medications from their homes. This measure is an important step in preventing medication misuse and opioid addiction in our community.

In collaboration with the Town of Poughkeepsie Police Dept.

Unused or expired prescription medications are a public safety issue... Without proper disposal, these meds can lead to accidental poisoning, overdose, and misuse.

Pharmaceutical drugs can be just as dangerous as street drugs when taken without a prescription or a doctor's supervision.

Unused prescription drugs thrown in the trash can be retrieved and misused or sold illegally.

Unused drugs that are flushed can contaminate the public water supply.
